Matters Continue Quiet in Cincinnati.-The Riot Over.

A Partial Record of the Work of the Fire-Fiend in a Day.

With a Little Boom for Sargent, and a Number of Other Topies.

The Riot.

Cincinnati, 3 .- Matters continue quiet everywhere in the city. Portions of the barricades in Sycamore street near the jail remain as rallying poin's in case of any further attack. The lower portion of the Court house will soon be protected by boards to keep out the crowds. The militia is on duty. The Seventeenth regiment patrol the side-walks all around the Court house and jail, and keep everybody from approaching nearer than the curbstone. Though almost every buildiag in the vicinity is marked by bullet holes which ordinarily would draw crowds of sight seers, there are comparatively few people about and they keep moving.

Cincinnati, 3.—At a meeting of Socialists held to-night it was expected some action would be taken on the subject of the riots, but the matter was not discussed. It is announced that they will hold a meeting on Sunday next for the purpose of discussing the recent disturb-

The Cincinnati Trades Assembly to-night passed a vote of thank- to the murderers in jail, and also con-mended the members of the Four h Obio National Guard Regiment, for refusing to march to the jail on Saturday night to take part in the attack on the mob; also voted to ask the Dayton Assembly to pass a vote of thanks to the members of the Fourth Regiment of that city.

Fire Record.

London, 3.—A fire, yesterfay, originated in the printing house of Pardon & Hones, Lovel's Court. Paternoster Row; thence spread to the famous "Old Dolly's Chop House," the house of Fandell, Phillips & Sons, importers of toys and fancy goods in Newgate street, the large book bindery of Smith Broe., Toy Lane, and the music publishing house of B Williams, Paternoster Row, were all completely destroyed. The damage is as great the water's edge at Fitzgerald landsteamer, and it is thought from an electric lamp spark. The passengers who were saved escaped in their night clothes. The following is a list of the lost: Mrs. Owen, of Cathbert, Ga; Miss Simpson, Fort Carbert, Ga; Lilia Anderson about the control of the contro Gaenes, Ga ; Julia Anderson, cham-bermaid; Richard Coleman, pantry. man; Adolph Thomas, fireman; A. Stephens and Randolp Singer, deck hands; Bob Griffith, steedore; 307 bales of cotton and small miscel-laneous freight burned. The beat was valued at $24,000, and is a total loss; no insurance. There were sixteen cabin and nine deck passengers on board. The steamer be-longed to the Central line and plied on the Chattahooche river between this city and Apalachicola bay. The passengers who escaped have reached this city, some of them severely burned.

This was the signal for another attack from the German prees, who assumed and represented that not being sustained in this issue, Sargent had lost the confidence of his government. There is no doubt that the attacks were inspired by Prince Bismarck, for they appeared only in organs whose policy is dictated by him, and that his intention was to secure Sargent's retention was to secure Sargent's re-call, in the hope of getting an American representative at Berlin, who had not the same aggressive opposition; that he finally accom-plished what he has been driving at Washington, 3.—The b'll intromust be as much a matter of satistaction to him as it is a matter of provide for the creation of a silk chagrin to the American people. A Little Boom for Him.

Chicago, 3.—A Washington correspondent of the Inter-Ocean, telegraphs that the Sargent case will attract a great deal of attention in Congress then ext four weeks He says Frelinghuysen's last move is regarded as a great blunder here. He refers to the embarrassing position which Sargent has occupied at the German court, subjected as he has been to a series of attacks from the organs of the chancellor. The telegram then says Sargent was not cut out for a diplomatist. He was influenced by ecitions, and it would be extraordinary if among the sethere were no letters from members of Congress. Blies said in June the Atto ney-General asked me to see Judge Gresham. He was anxious to prosecute the cases. I saw the Postmaster General and had a long talk with him. ### To-night Salt Lake Theatre. The great star company of specialty performers that appears at the Theatre to night, has been the subject of a good many flattering newspaper comments like the following from the Boston Daily Advertiser, "M. B. Leavitt's European Specialty Company opened at the Howard Athenseum to an audience limited only by the capacity of the theatre. The first to appear on the stage were Bennett and Gardner, and they were followed by Harrington and Johnson, who were well received; Miss Lottie Elliott, skipping rope dancer | pleased the andience, and the "Four Shamricks, in their new sketch, entitled "The W. rking man's Strike," were loudly applauded. The Selbinis in their voie act, did some very great ri 'ng, Frank Goldie and Saliie St. Clair were on hand to please those who were fond of clog dancing, and Andy and Annie Hughes gave a sketch, entitled "Over the Stile. Wainratts, "The King of the Wire, gave a performance on the slack wire, which has seldom, if ever, een equalled in this city. Fred Matthews, eccentric dancer, and the great Daly in his wonderful imitations on the Concertina helped to fill up the programme, which was concluded with the laughable farce of "All Foel's Day," in which all the company appeared."

Tickets must be secured early by those who want good seats.

The Theatre.

There was a good-sized audience at the Theatre yesterday evening, and all departed with evident satisfaction with the entertainment they had received. Victorine is one of those pieces which can be seen often and the spectator not be wearied with the repetitions, for the plot is engaging, the incidents interesting and the dialogue lively throughout. The Combination have rarely appeared to better advantage than in this piece, affording as it does an opportunity for the display of their special abilities. There was considerable applause, but at the end of the first act, where Victorine (Miss Adams) is disrobing for the sleep, out of which grows the substance of the plot, some few were foolish enough to laugh and show their lack of appreciation of one of the most chaste and beautiful of performances. Otherwise everything was quite satisfactory. The parts were well maintained throughout, and the management are entitled to great credit.

To-night Leavitt's Specialty Company make their first appearance-They will doubtless be greeted with a full house.
